Speak up for more oil production!

Now is the time to speak up for increasing oil flow through the pipeline. Members of the Senate Resources committee will hear public testimony on Senate Bill 21 for two days this week. Please mark your calendars and let legislators know that Alaska needs action NOW to reverse the alarming trend of continued oil production decline. With more than 90 percent of the State's spending money coming from oil and gas revenues, we cannot afford to let oil throughput decline year after year without taking substantive action.

The two opportunities for public testimony are:

Monday, February 18

Senate Resources - 6 p.m.

SB 21 - Oil and Gas Production Tax

Juneau - Capitol Room 205

Statewide - Local LIO List Here

Wednesday, February 20

Senate Resources - 5:15 p.m.

SB 21 - Oil and Gas Production Tax

Juneau Capitol Room 205

Statewide - Local LIO List Here

In addition, members of the Anchorage Caucus will meet this Saturday to hear public testimony on a wide variety of topics, including oil taxes. Plan to take advantage of having all Anchorage-area legislators in town at once to tell them in person how important increasing oil production is for our state's economy.

Saturday, February 23

Anchorage Caucus Community Meeting

Loussac Library

Assembly Chambers

3600 Denali Street

Anchorage

9:30 a.m. - 1:00 p.m.

Please use these opportunities to let your elected officials know the State needs to set a fair and balanced oil tax policy that achieves one major, overarching goal: increasing the amount of oil flowing through the pipeline.
