AOGA Statement on Moriarty's appointment to the Oil and Gas Competitiveness Review Board

“I am honored to represent Alaska’s largest private sector industry on the newly created Oil and Gas Competitiveness Review Board,” said Kara Moriarty, AOGA president and CEO. “Our state’s economy is fueled by oil and gas so it is vital that public policies, like our current tax system, keep Alaska competitive in the global market place. I look forward to working with my fellow members and will work diligently to represent the entire oil and gas industry as we provide the legislature with factual and useful information in the years ahead.”

Earlier today, Governor Parnell announced his appointments for the Oil and Gas Competitiveness Review Board, which was created as part of Senate Bill 21. The duty of the board is to take a complete view of oil and gas exploration, development and production in the state and make recommendations to the Alaska Legislature.

The Alaska Oil and Gas Association is a private, business trade association. Its 14 member companies represent the majority of oil and gas exploration, production, transportation, refining, and marketing activities in Alaska. More information regarding the organization can be found at www.aoga.org.
