Alaska Oil and Gas Association comments on the Department of Revenue's 2014 Spring Revenue Forecast

April 7, 2014

Anchorage – “Oil tax reform was engineered to boost production, and the new forecast predicts thousands more barrels of oil flowing through the pipeline—tax reform is working,” said Kara Moriarty, president and CEO of AOGA. “It’s not a surprise given the billions in new investments and hundreds of new Alaska jobs the oil companies have announced since tax reform passed, but it is gratifying and exciting to see it borne out in official predictions.”

The Alaska Oil and Gas Association is a private, business trade association. Its 15 member companies represent the majority of oil and gas exploration, production, transportation, refining, and marketing activities in Alaska. More information regarding the organization can be found at www.aoga.org.
